Dassault Falcon 2000

Available for charter

EXECUTIVE TRAVEL WITHOUT COMPROMISE

The Dassault Falcon 2000 - a large cabin corporate jet - is now available for charter, offering an exceptional blend of performance, capacity and comfort.

The aircraft operates out of Geneva, where it is one among just a few of its kind. Available at short notice at highly competitive rates, with the added assurance of the Dassault technical prowess, the Falcon 2000 makes excellent business sense.

This aircraft's sophisticated interior is configured with 10 comfortable seats finished in beige leather, complemented by high-gloss wood cabinetry. The cabin features four forward club seats followed by a four-place dining group with coffee/conference table. The forward galley is fully equipped for hot meal preparation – there is an oven and coffee machine as well as storage for plenty of cold food and beverages.

SPEED AND PERFORMANCE

Powerful engines and the renowned Dassault Falcon wing give this aircraft a clear performance advantage. Whether it's for just one long journey from Geneva to Moscow, or for a packed itinerary with several stopovers across Europe, the jet adapts to the business traveller's needs, and to a diversity of destinations. Indeed, it was built to be challenged: whether operating out of high altitude airports or landing on short runways during a heat wave, the Falcon 2000 is the jet that gets the job done.
